To whom it may concern:

My name is Michael Griffin, and I am the owner of a restaurant in Macon, Georgia called TaylorMade Grill. Though the restaurant had been open for a few years, we still did not have a suitable website which portrayed our business in the way that we wanted. I found System X Designs and met with the owner, Richard Whirley, in regards to exactly what I wanted my website to accomplish. Richard met with me on several occasions to discuss the scope of the project, and even made the trip to Macon to eat in the restaurant to ensure that he thoroughly understood the atmosphere that our website needed to reflect.

The turn-around time on this site was well within the time frame that we agreed upon, even though the project grew in size from our original expectations. I felt that the pricing was very competitive, the explanations of features were excellent, and the flexibility that I was permitted to work in was refreshing.

I am thoroughly satisfied with the end result of my project, and the increased amount of business that we have enjoyed because of our site has been better than we had hoped. I highly recommend the services of System X Designs to anyone interested in having or improving a website for their business.

If anyone would require further information, please feel free to browse our site, call me at the number listed below, or come see our beautiful restaurant at the below address.

Respectfully,

Michael Griffin, Owner
