Our Story and Values

The journey of Premier Platforms, Inc. started in 1980. David Cooper founded this humble startup right in his backyard in Snellville, Georgia. Premier Platforms started as a lift brokering service but by 1994 it had established itself as one of the most innovative and trusted source for all sorts of aerial platform rental services.

Our clients come from different trades: utility companies, billboard/advertisement agencies, videographers, photographers, construction companies, big box stores, retailers, warehouses, contractors and more. We remain nimble and flexible as we realize our clients come from different background and we'll make sure you get what you need to get the job done right.

We couldn't have been in this business for over three decades if it weren't for loyal customers. Premier Platforms, Inc remains a small family business with the same old values we were founded upon: we treat our customer as a guest in need and not just a number like the Wallstreet Behemoths across the street. We will talk with you in person, understand the job in hand and recommend the best option.

Why Rent?

We had the same question! When David started out as a broker, he quickly found an Electric company was more inclined to renting sixteen scissor lifts regularly than buying those outright. It turns out the liability of owning such equipment was ginormous. Add maintenance, insurance, servicing etc. and you're looking at an astronomical figure. Obviously, electric companies are heavy users and if it makes sense for them to rent – occasional users are far better off renting when needed than owning a piece of aerial platform. Storage, insurance and other liabilities, maintenance etc. often make owning aerial platforms cost prohibitive. That's exactly where we come in play.

Boom Lift Rentals

Premier Platforms, Inc. boasts the most comprehensive boom lift fleet in Atlanta metro area. We are proudly serving Dekalb, Fulton, Oconee, Clarke, Rockdale, Henry, and Gwinnett counties and surrounding areas since 1980. In addition to boom lift rentals, we offer safety trainings in accordance with OSHA regulations and ANSI standards. Our safety training ensures, your aerial platform operator is aware of operator safety for both Aerial Work Platform (AWP) and Powered Industrial Truck (PIT).

Boom lifts are designed to carry a worker (or more) with their tools, and materials off the ground. There are two major classes of boom lifts: straight boom lifts and knuckle boom lifts. Straight boom lifts are also known as telescopic boom lifts and feature one, single hinged expandable arm that can stretch over long distances. Straight booms are stable and designed to work well in open areas. On the other hand, knuckle booms, also known as articulating boom lifts have segmented arms that are designed to work around obstacles and into tight spaces.

Premier Platforms feature a variety of boom lifts for rent from top manufacturer like JLG Industries and Genie than can reach up to 135 feet from the ground. You also have options of power sources for your boom lift: diesel, gas, hybrid or electric boom lift rentals – we have it all. Most boom lift operators work with powerful machines in dangerous heights, so safety is of paramount importance to us.

In addition to offering proper safety training, we pledge to keep our fleet serviced and well-maintained, so you and your crew can be safe up there while working. Premier Platforms not only offers the best boom lift rental rates in the entire state of Georgia, but also offers parts and service, accessories and more for both articulating and telescopic boom lifts.

Our regular renters include utility, firefighters, window cleaners, construction sites, mining companies, painters, photographers and videographers, and more. Boom lifts are also known as cherry pickers, man lifts, basket cranes and more. Personnel/Manlift Rentals

Premier Platforms, Inc. is the one stop solution for all your aerial platform needs. If you're working on spaces that are couple stories or more above the ground – you need a stable platform to get the job done both easily and safely. Most of our renters don't need a manlift everyday so it makes sense for them to rent from us. Renting is inexpensive compared to buying. In long term, it's cost effective for most businesses as they don't have to pay insurance, other liabilities, maintenance, parts, servicing etc. Even storage for this equipment can cost you a fortune.

Our manlift rental fleet boasts the most popular manlift or personnel lifts from industry leading JLG Industries and Genie brands that can reach as high as 40 feet. There are a variety of lifts that can lift workers and their tools and equipment off the ground. For example: boom lifts can accomplish the same but often, they are too heavy and wide to get into tight spaces. On the other hand, scissor lifts can only go straight up from the base. For worksites that require a flexible, yet light and far reaching capability, personnel lifts, also known as manlifts are ideal.

Similar to boom lifts, manlifts feature both articulating and telescoping arms. Manlifts are lighter, often needs to be pushed around as they are not motorized self-driving units. If you only need to reach vertically and don't need power or heavy lifting capability, consider a manlift rental as an affordable alternative to boom rental.

Most manlifts are more applicable to indoors. Lighter weight of these personnel lifts is easy on the floor: perfect for changing lightbulbs, painting tall walls or ceilings, repair cable or electric wirings, plumbing even some roofing works can use a little help from our affordable manlift rentals. Any aerial lift or platforms however have the potential of tipping, falling and causing other bodily harms, safety is therefore our priority in this line of rental business.

In addition to renting manlifts at an affordable rate, we offer safety trainings to ensure OSHA and ANSI compliance. We also offer parts and services for most aerial platforms, our fleets are well-kept and serviced regularly to ensure peak operating performance no matter who, where or when our rental units are being used.
